Press Release

Karp Capital's Peter Karp Named Among Bay Area's Top 25 Independent Wealth Advisers

SAN FRANCISCO - (May 27, 2008) - Karp Capital Management Corp., a leading independent retirement planning and asset management firm, today announced that founder Peter Karp was named among the Bay Area's top 25 independent wealth advisers in an annual ranking published by the San Francisco BusinessTimes.

Karp ranked 25th on the list of top independent wealth advisers. With over 7,000 nominations received every year, rankings are based on quantitative (assets and revenues) and qualitative criteria (compliance records, discussions with management and peers, telephone and in-person interviews, etc.).

"I am honored by this recognition and it is deeply gratifying to be named to this prestigious list," Peter Karp said. "I believe Karp Capital's success is rooted in our unrelenting focus on providing client-centric retirement planning and consulting to companies and individuals in the Bay Area and beyond."

"The entire Karp Capital team holds the common belief that financial professionals should work directly for their clients, providing unbiased advice without the bureaucratic strictures found at large financial institutions."

The list of top independent wealth advisers in the Bay Area was compiled by the Winner's Circle and published in the May 23 edition of the San Francisco BusinessTimes.

The Winner's Circle is an organization of outstanding advisors and industry leaders. The mission of the Winner's Circle is to promote best practices in the industry, and to promote the value of advice to the investing public. The organization's independent and objective research is published in annual feature stories in publications like Barron's, San Francisco BusinessTimes, LA Business Journal, Detroit Crain's, Virginia Business Magazine and more.
